Bio Anyone who's been to a concert in Montreal will recognize Susan Moss, not just for her curly ginger locks and signature black dress, but for her inspired photographs of the city, its nightlife, its people and especially its rockstars. Susan's work has appeared in international magazines including Rolling Stone, Spin, NME and Vice. Over the past 20 years she's captured iconic images of some of the most influential artists of our time: KISS, Metallica, Snoop Dog, Beastie Boys, Aretha Franklin, Arcade Fire – the list is endless. Susan's known for her raw, fierce, urgent style. She's drawn to the in-between moments and is inspired by people doing what they love, in action, being their true selves.
